FOUR THOUSAND IN REWARD OFFERED FOR ROLANDO

Alleged Murderer of Priest Is Still at Large

Four thousand dollars reward has been offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of Andrew Rolando, who it is alleged killed Rev. Father A. B. Belknap in Lead City, South Dakota, on October 26. Rewards aggregating this amount are being offered by Lawrence county, S. D., the South Dakota Knights of Columbus, Cristoforo Colombo Society, and citizens of Lawrence county.

In a letter to the Glendale Daily Press, Father O'Neill of the Holy Family church here, sets forth details as follows:
Editor Glendale Press:—The decent citizenry of the United States and Canada has been outraged by the recent murders in which Catholic priests were the innocent and unsuspecting victims. A particularly brutal murder was that committed by Andrew Rolando, when he killed the Rev. Father A. B. Belknap in Lead City, South Dakota, on October 26, 1921.

Black Hills Council of the Knights of Columbus, Lead, S. D., issues an appeal, subscribed to by the constituted authorities of justice in Lawrence county, S. D., to all Knights of Columbus to aid, so far as possible, in locating Andrew Rolando, murderer of Father Belknap.

Rolando is 5 feet 10 inches in

Adam Blubbered and Boo-hoed When Face to Face With Trouble

Adam boo-hoed and blubbered when the first test came. He tried to escape the consequences of his misdeeds by blaming a woman. He played the baby act.

This is the way James W. Foley puts it in "The Listening Post" tonight. He asks it is not more admirable for the man to face consequence courageously, claiming no exemptions, pleading no extenuating circumstances.

Like all of Mr. Foley's philosophical articles, it is full of truth and sound reasoning and well worth reading. You will find Mr. Foley's work exclusively in this newspaper.

Most of the world is running about looking for fool's gold, according to Dr. Frank Crane in his column on the editorial page this evening. There are poetry, paragraphs, wise sayings, able editorial features, scientific facts and extracts from other papers, on the editorial page for your consideration. It is, without doubt, the best editorial page published in the West. We want you to read and profit from it.

Stop Auto, Begin Firing and Get Away With Big Sum

CHICAGO, Jan. 17.—Two bank messengers were wounded today in a battle with four bandits, who escaped with a $12,000 payroll for the Ward Baking company. The messengers from the Citizens' Trust and Savings bank, a south-side institution, were en route to the Ward plant in an automobile when the bandits pulled alongside and forced them to turn into the curb and stop.

As the bank car stopped, four foreigners jumped from the bandit car and started firing, without warning. Anthony Koefoot was shot three times and critically wounded. Joseph Ross was hit in the face by one bullet, but was not seriously hurt.

DR. CLYDE CRIST HOME FROM FRESNO

Saturday, Rev. Clyde Monroe Crist returned from a very important conference at Fresno. It was a meeting called by Bishop Leonard to which he summoned a few picked men from each district in his big territory, which covers California, Arizona and Nevada. They were addressed by eminent speakers and all phases of church work were discussed. The purpose of the conference was to present to these representatives the matters which the bishop is most anxious to have emphasized and pushed during the coming year. The delegates are expected to carry the message to their fellow workers in the work and it is probable that three meetings will be held in the Pasadena district, viz., at Pasadena, Pomona and San Bernardino.

GLENDALE HIGH 'Y' WINS BANNER FOR BEST PROGRAM

Intense Competition Over State for Banner
of Honor

Members of the Glendale Hi Y are considerably excited and with some reason, as word has reached Secretary Rex Kelley that the organization has won the banner awarded by the state committee to the club having the best month's program. The trophy is now on display in the window of Cornwell & Kelly's store.

Every month the Hi Y's all over the state compete for this banner. During the past two years it has always been awarded to northern clubs with a single exception when it went to the Redlands Y. M. C. A. Glendale's December program was the one on which the manner was received. Briefly outlined it included the following:

A weekly meeting for Bible study followed by games and social stunts or a speaker from the outside. Special activities: Assumption by the club of responsibility for Harry Rimmer day observed in this district, and paying all expenses; entertainment of the Hi Y club of Burbank and Alhambra; supplying Christmas boxes for orphan boys; members of the club assisting in leading grammar school groups; deputations speaking in the local churches.

The January program includes the following officers: Dale Wood, president; Allen McCormick, vice-president; Paul Edmonds, secretary-treasurer.

Club groups are under the leadership of the following men: G. Edwin Murphy, Howard Butterfield, P. L. Hatch, William Marple, and Carl Seitzer.

The January program includes several social evenings, one of which will be a skating party at Alhambra next Saturday night.

There will be a world outlook meeting at which work among foreign boys will be reviewed. Thrift week began Monday on Benjamin Franklin's birthday.

There will be a swim at Pasadena Y. M. C. A. next Monday night.

Parents' night will be arranged by the various groups. Saturday night the Central avenue group had a hike and supper in the hills under the leadership of Maynard Toll and Philip Henderson. Mr. Boyd's group also had a moonlight party the same night.

MADALYNNE TO TELL TRUTH OF KENNEDY CASE

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 17.—"I'll tell the truth about the whole affair!" This statement, made to the United Press exclusively by Madalynne Kenyon today, followed the disagreement of a jury trying Arthur C. Burch, making it a certainty that the woman accused of complicity in the murder of John Belton Kennedy will be tried first.

Madalynne's trial is only two weeks away. It is set for February 5. Jubilant over the fact that the Burch jury failed to find the accused man guilty, Madalynne declared today that she would take the stand in her own defense and bare the full story of Kennedy's murder.

"The facts about the murder have never come out," she said. "I'll tell the truth about the whole affair, and I shall be acquitted on the first ballot!"

COMMUNITY CHORUS PLAN IS STARTED

Glendale Singers Invited to Join New Group of Singers

SUBSCRIPTION LIST

Glendale Press Starts the Ball Rolling With Ten
Dollar Gift

There is going to be a singfest in Glendale. All that is needed to make it possible is the "fest." There are "odds" of singers, soloists, chorus singers, lullaby singers and the like, who are always glad to get together and make a noise like harmony.

It is said, and no one has ever contradicted the statement, that Glendale has more singers to the "square inch" than any city of like size and like population in the state, and it is the hope of many singers that an organization will soon be perfected that will mean much to the music-loving people, as well as the music-makers.

"If there is anything good in anyone, music will bring it out," said a philosopher. On Christmas morning, a group of Glendale church singers went about the city before daylight in a rainstorm and made the people know Christ was born. The music of the voices thrilled those who were lucky enough to be given an opportunity to hear it, and one woman said that if the singers would go about every Sunday morning there would be less selfishness and more of "loving thy neighbor as thyself."

Be that as it may, the Glendale Daily Press is in favor of a community chorus or a community singfest, or whatever name suits best. There is a glorious volume of imprisoned harmony in this city, and there is an opportunity for the singers and the hearers to get together.

The Glendale Daily Press will start a subscription list with $10 for the purpose of buying music, and will accept funds for this purpose. At the proper time, when enough singers have expressed their desire to join the chorus, a meeting will be held and a leader named, together with a membership committee. There are scores of singers in the various churches who will join such an organization, and many interesting hours will result if singers as well as hearers if such an organization can be established.

If you are a singer and if you are willing to join the community chorus, send your name, address and phone number to the Music Editor, Glendale Daily Press.

If you are not a singer but enjoy chorus singing, send your check to the Music Editor of the Glendale Daily Press and the check will be acknowledged through the columns of the newspaper or by letter—just as you desire.

There are seven nights in every week, and singers of the enthusiastic variety are willing to give one of those nights to the study of music. If you sing, join this group. If you don't sing, help it by subscribing to the fund that will be used to buy music. When the chorus is established, it will give entertainment, but there will be no charge. The public will hear a wonderful volume of music "free for nothing."

Arrangements have also been made to accept subscriptions from those who sing as well as those who do not sing. If you want to sing and donate to the fund, too, there is no obstacle in the way.

Bannon was said to have killed Brigham because Mrs. Bannon made confessions to her husband implicating the dead man.

HARMONIOUS MEETING ON SEWER PLAN

Over 150 Citizens Appear at Session Once Called Off

COUNCIL IN ACCORD

Number of Citizens Give Utterances to Views on Sewer Plan

The mass meeting held last night to protest against the proposed sewerage plant being located on San Fernando road, and which was later called off, proved to be a real meeting after all. More than 150 interested residents gathered at the school auditorium, where Mattison B. Jones presided.

After stating that he did not know why the meeting had been called off, Mr. Jones called on W. E. Evans, chairman of the resolutions committee. Briefly, Mr. Evans explained that a meeting was held Monday morning in the chamber of commerce quarters at which Mayor Robinson and Councilman Davis and 20 other citizens were present. On account of the harmony that reigned at this meeting, he said, and the promise of the council members that before being brought to a vote the sewerage proposition would be given wide publicity, it was deemed wise to call off the mass meeting scheduled for last night.

"In view of the action that was taken at the meeting," said Mr. Evans, "I will personally do nothing tonight that will tend in any way to counteract the effect of that session. I feel that the state has been cleared and that everything is ready to go."

"I am pleased at what was done at the meeting this morning," said Mr. Jones. "Everything that we have been after has been accomplished, namely, a public hearing of the sewerage problem prior to its being put to a vote of the people. We are now sure that we will be heard. That's what we want, isn't it?"

On motion, the meeting approved the expression as read by Mr. Evans, and this was accepted in lieu of the resolutions that had been prepared by the resolutions committee.

John Robert White presented the following resolution, which was adopted: "In view of the report of the resolutions committee now on file; 'Be It Resolved, that we approve of the action of the resolutions committee in opposing the proposed plan for the sewerage district.'

"We approve of their proposed plan for an enlarged sewerage committee to investigate an enlarged plan on the sewerage problem."

We also approve of the evident intention of the city council to take no action in a matter of this magnitude without taking all the city of Glendale into its confidence and to abide by their advice."

Engineer Frank Olmstead, who has been a member of the sewerage committee appointed by the city council for more than a year, and who has had a great deal to do with sewerage problems of various cities, gave an enlightening talk on the needs of Glendale along this line, and possible solutions thereof.

John D. Reavis, president of the trunk line outfall sewer commission, organized in 1912 in South Pasadena, said:

"Our organization was formed

SENATOR KENYON TO KEEP UP FIGHT

posing Way Newberry

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Senator Willis' attitude on the Newberry case today caused Senator Kenyon, Iowa, to cancel an engagement in Iowa. Senator Willis and Congressman Fitzgerald of Ohio, to deliver a McKinley day address at Dayton, Ohio, on January 29. In a letter to Fitzgerald cancelling the engagement, Kenyon said he intended to discuss the Newberry case in all his public speaking from now on and to emphasize in particular his opposition to the senate's condoning of corruption.

LA FOLLETTE MAY BE OUT OF G. O. P.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Expulsion of Senator Robert M. La Follette, Wisconsin, from the republican party is being sought by his political and personal enemies. They want the "stormy petrel" of the senate officially thrown out of the G. O. P. majority and figuratively, if not literally, set out in the middle of the senate aisle as a "man without a party."

BURCH HAS REGARD WOMEN JURORS WHO HELD OUT

Great Experience Says Young Man Who Must Again Be Tried

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 17.—Arthur C. Burch, accused as the killer of John Belton Kennedy, today paid his respects to the two women jurors who for 72 hours stood firm against a majority vote to convict him and finally succeeded, late yesterday, in having the jury discharged.

"Two women who never weakened! For 72 hours they stood out against the pack. It's a great and terrible feeling to know your fate is held in the soft palm of a woman," Burch said in an exclusive interview with the United Press.

"Mention women jurors when you're talking about the super-institutions of America. They're great!"

"I'll admit my faith was as feeble at times as that flashlight the sheriff used to pick our way across the dark 'bridge of sighs' from the jail to the courtroom, when we thought a verdict was coming at midnight."

"They say a woman is swayed by emotional appeal. If this is so, do you think these two could have held out against ten, all arguing and using every sort of appeal? Thank God for a reasoning woman! Thank God for a woman juror! Prosecutor Woolwine has stated that the next trial will come soon. I hope so. I'm tired. I want to get all this trial business over with, and rest. I never want to see a courtroom or a barred window again."

"It's not the verdict I hoped for. I was so sure there was going to be an acquittal. I thought that I would be on the street by now. But in view of the fact that the odds were against me, and fate spun the roulette in a different way than I had expected—it's a victory for me. It's all been a great experience—particularly the insight I got into the working of a woman juror's mind."

BODIES ALWAYS DOUBLE CHECKED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Charges that bodies of American soldiers who died in France were often sent to the wrong homes in the United States were branded as false today by witnesses before the senate investigating committee. Three men who served overseas with the grave registration service told the committee that every body sent home was positively identified and re-checked against error before it was prepared for shipment.

JURY SELECTED SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 17.—Evidences in Roscoe Arbuckle's manslaughter trial will begin this afternoon. A jury composed of eleven men and one woman, with one man and one woman as alternate jurors, was completed late yesterday.

ANNA GIVES HER VIEWS OF JAZZ MUSIC

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 17.—Here's Anna Pavlova's estimate of modern American jazz. "Minus rhythm, minus harmony, minus every faint claim to beauty; giving out insane shrieks, walls, crashes, discords, the vile music termed 'jazz' so popular in America is disintegrating to the nervous systems of the young; a menace to the taut tension of the adults; and largely responsible for the rapidly increasing psychopathic cloud on our medical horizon."

WOMEN NOT REGISTERING IN GLENDALE

Deputy Registrar Says He Has Seen Many Who Will Not Vote

CANNOT GO TO POLLS

Many Not Interested in Public Affairs It Is Found

F. S. MacDougal, who is a deputy registrar of voters, claims that the women of Glendale, in some instances, are not living up to the reputation of the city as the most wideawake municipality in the state. Many upon whom he has called have refused to register in spite of the fact that the majority own their own homes and should be interested in a great many matters to be decided by the vote.

Only duly registered voters are allowed to cast ballots in school elections or in bond elections. Quite independent of party politics, the women of Glendale have frequent occasion to exercise the franchise. There are few who have not an opinion on local issues and if they fail to qualify themselves to back up their opinions with a vote, there will probably be a good many disappointed women sooner or later when they realize the opportunities they have missed.

No woman is compelled to go to the polls, but when she wants to go and loses the chance through her own carelessness, or indifference, she may seriously regret it.

CREDIT ASS'N TO HAVE AN EMBLEM

Interesting Meet Yesterday at Weekly Lunch Session

The Glendale Credit association held its second weekly luncheon and meeting at the chamber of commerce on Monday at noon. Forty members were present and discussed plans for the year's work. It was decided to have some one address the meeting each week and talk along educational lines as applied to credit organizations.

The chief business of the meeting yesterday was the discussion of a membership campaign. Secretary Frank Pilling pointed out that the organization needs more members and more information about the credit rating of the people in the district under the jurisdiction of the local bureau. Several of the members, to assist the campaign for new members, agreed to call on certain business and professional men who are not now members of the organization.

The selection of a suitable emblem for the association and its members was discussed, and an emblem was suggested that met with the approval of the members present. This is a white triangle upon a red circular field with the name of the organization upon it. This suggestion was the only one and it was decided to defer action on the emblem until more suggestions had been received.

The emblem is to be used by members of the organization on their letter heads, envelopes and in the windows of the stores and offices that are members of the association.

HARMONY MEET ON SEWER PLAN

for the purpose of laying plans to build a sewer from Pasadena to the sea and serve all the San Gabriel valley. Frank Olmstead was the engineer and the personnel of the commission included six appointees from sixteen different cities in Los Angeles county. The direct cause of the trunk line commission was the nuisance created by the Pasadena sewer farm in Alhambra. The offense given by the odors was so great as to arouse a feud between the cities of Pasadena and Alhambra, in which the garbage wagon drivers from Pasadena were assaulted by irate Alhambra citizens.

"I warn the citizens of Glendale to keep watch on this sewage disposal matter and to resist any and all attempts to build any sort of a sewer farm within the city limits. No matter what may be said about covering up the septic tanks and building parks around them, the odor will remain and no power can be invoked to stop its baneful effects."

Alex Mitchell, in his quiet way, said that he did not see how any committee of half a dozen men who happened to meet on the street corner had any right to call off a mass meeting that had been called by 85 of the leading people of Glendale, who were gathered at a public meeting. He said he wanted everything to be given out in the open and was not in favor of any "secret agreements."

"So far as this sewer farm being located in the northwestern section is concerned, I want to say that up to this time I have tried to be a law-abiding citizen. Since the dry law went into effect I have not taken a drink, but I'll not promise to refrain from mixing a little 'Scotch' in my drinking water if they put that sewer farm over on the San Fernando road."

"I had an interview last Saturday with R. F. Goudey, southern division engineer of the state board of health, regarding the locating of the sewage disposal plant in the northwestern section of Glendale. He assured me that a permit will not be granted by the state board of health until complete plans and specifications have been submitted, and then only after a hearing and complete investigation. A remark of a high official of Los Angeles to me was significant. He said: 'We propose to have you vote bonds until you are as deep in debt as Los Angeles is, and then you'll have nothing against coming into Los Angeles.'"

O. M. Newby moved that action be taken declaring it was not the intention in holding this meeting

HEALING CREAM STOPS CATARRH

Clogged Air Passages Open at Once—Nostrils Cleared

If your nostrils are clogged and your head stuffed because of catarrh or a cold, get Ely's Cream Balm at any drug store. Apply a little of this pure, antiseptic, germ destroying cream into your nostrils and let it penetrate through every air passage of your head and membranes. Instant relief.

How good it feels. Your head is clear. Your nostrils are open. You breathe freely. No more hawking or snuffing. Head colds and catarrh yield like magic. Don't stay stuffed up, choked up and miserable. Relief is sure.—Adv.

to in any way antagonize the sewerage system that is not being put in, but that the meeting was in hearty sympathy with the present system. This was adopted.

It was decided that a committee of five be appointed as an executive committee with power to call a meeting of the organization at any time that it was deemed wise to do so. This committee is to be appointed by Mattison B. Jones, who was named as an ex-officio member thereof.

ARCHITECTS TO APPLY TO BOARD

Architects who are to have hearings before the high school board of trustees number Arthur G. Lindley and his Los Angeles partner, C. C. Rittenhouse, who is also a resident of this city but who is about to be associated with a Los Angeles architect, and Alfred Priest of this city, who is already associated with Norman Marsh, who was architect of Pasadena high and a score of the larger high schools in Los Angeles county. It will be necessary for the board to have several meetings before all who have applied can present their claims.

SOCIAL EVENTS ON WEEK'S PROGRAM

Several important events are booked for the present week in addition to the regular meetings of clubs and societies. Today, the Shakespeare section of the Tuesday Afternoon club is providing a rather sumptuous program before the parent club in scenes from "Midsummer Night's Dream" by its members, led by the curator, Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, and directed by Mrs. Henry Ralston.

Wednesday evening the Shrine club gives its first informal dance in the banquet hall of the chamber of commerce building. The same evening the Glendale Democratic club has its first meeting in several months at 1305 North Central avenue.

Thursday evening the Madrigal club gives its first concert of the year in the Glendale high school auditorium.

Friday evening the local post of the American Legion will have a banquet and a high jinks program in the chamber of commerce banquet hall. The same day pupils of intermediate school will have a matinee and evening variety show in the auditorium of the school as a benefit for the Athletic association.

Sunday the wedding of Miss Leone Shattuck and Emil Kiefer will be solemnized.

MRS. W. M. MILLS

HOSTESS SATURDAY

Mrs. W. M. Mills, 716 North Maryland avenue, formerly employed at the First National bank, entertained the girls of the bank Saturday afternoon at a delightful party.

A social afternoon was enjoyed after which a refreshment course was served by the hostess to the following guests, Miss Elsie Wilson, Miss Ethel Preston, Miss Mildred Johnson, Miss Susan Thomas, Miss Kathryn Weisling, Miss Winifred Traver, Mrs. Mabel Melberger and Mrs. Grace Harrison.

MISS EDNA PHILLIPS

BRIDE OF WM. BABB

Miss Edna Phillips, daughter of Mrs. Mary Phillips of West Elk street, on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of her sister, Mrs. H. S. Clewett of East Windsor road, became the bride of William Babb, Rev. V. Hunter Brink, pastor of the Central Avenue Methodist church officiated and only the immediate relatives and a few girl chums of the bride, were present.

Little Winifred Williams was the flower girl and Stanley Clewett the ring bearer. Miss Emily Kopp sang "At Dawning," and "I Love

That sort of nails!"

"All a matter of proper grooming, to have lovely nails. Even if one's complexion and hair need improvement—there is little excuse for poor nails."

"Just a few moments daily, between manicure and manicure, will keep lovely nails lasting in their elegance."

"As in facial and scalp service—Marinello methods of 15 years' test."

You Truly," her accompanist being Mrs. Tuttle who played the Lohengrin wedding march.

The bride was simply attired in a white gown, wore a wedding veil and crown of orange blooms, and carried a bridal bouquet.

Wedding refreshments were served following the ceremony and the same evening Mr. and Mrs. Babb left for Arizona where the groom has a ranch near Yuma. They met last summer at San Luis Obispo, when Miss Phillips was visiting her sister, and the interest then awakened rapidly ripened into love.

Mrs. Babb has been a very active worker in the Central Avenue church and has a large circle of friends by whom she will be much missed.

DYNAMOS CLUB IN EXECUTIVE MEET

The executive council of the Dynamos club held its second meeting of the term last week, the following members being present: Earl P. Hammond, president; Ed Smith, secretary-treasurer; Orrin Barnes, corresponding secretary; Percy Jewell, secretary of rolls; Graham Tinning, secretary of employment; Kenneth Wilde, chairman of athletics; David Lynd, distributor of "Dynamos."

Plans for the future were discussed and after the regular business session the president introduced Mr. Leeds of the Lyceum circuit, who made several propositions which were held over for further consideration.

BUSINESS WOMEN TO HAVE BANQUET

The Glendale Business and Professional Women's club will make its bow with its first public banquet next week, Tuesday evening, January 24, in the chamber of commerce building, when it will welcome not only members but all business women of the city who make reservations beforehand at $1 per plate. Tickets can be had at the headquarters of the club in the charming apartment of which it has just taken possession at 209½ South Brand, above the Coker & Taylor plumbing shop. They can also be secured through Miss Nellie Warner at the chamber of commerce, and Dr. Laura Brown at her home or office.

After-dinner speakers on that occasion will be Miss Lloy Galpin, president of the county federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs; Prof. H. J. Stoner, head of the college of commerce of the University of Southern California; and Miss Winifred Hausman, director of the Pasadena placement bureau and chairman of the vocational department of the county and state federation.

Mrs. Myron Barnett of Los Angeles, formerly a resident of Glendale, who brought her little daughter, Marjory to the Glendale Research Hospital about a week ago to be treated for severe burns, is now taking the child home. She is most appreciative of the many attentions she received from old friends while her daughter was in the hospital.

P. T. ASSOCIATION DOING FINE WORK

The Parent-Teacher Associations are to be complimented on their fine system of working up membership, which means strength and interest in the things for the benefit of the schools which they are endeavoring to put across.

In the Intermediate school, for example, the membership as represented by the parents of pupils in the various rooms, has been posted in the main hall in percentages, as a spur to class pride which will doubtless develop a campaign among the students for enrollments. Miss Sinclair's room heads the list with 95 per cent. Mr. Alvas' room is credited with 84 per cent. Miss Sharpe's pupils have brought in 74 per cent, Miss Chase's 59 per cent and other rooms have records of varying amounts. It is a good scheme.

MISS EDMONDS IS BRIDE OF DICKSON LINK

Though Cupid is supposed to be a gay, sporty young fellow, he never allows dull routine of school or business to bar him from young hearts.

Elizabeth Edmonds, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. W. E. Edmonds of this city, and I. Dickson Link, also a Glendelian, are examples of his effective work. Both are students in Occidental college, where their congeniality of thought and aim was discovered.

Monday they hid them to Los Angeles and were quietly married by their old friend, Dr. W. E. McCulloch, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church of that city.

The ceremony took place in his study in the presence of several relatives, but was a quiet affair.

Mr. and Mrs. Link have no idea of abandoning their college course but will simply continue it together and make their home with the parents of the bridegroom, who reside on East Maple street.

Elizabeth Link is a fine young woman, beloved in the church of which her father is the pastor, and in the school she is attending. Mr. Link, who is preparing for the ministry, is also highly esteemed and has been prominent in religious work in the college. He is not unwelcome to Mr. and Mrs. Edmonds as a son-in-law.

AUXILIARY HAS INTERESTING MEET

The Women's Auxiliary of the Glendale post, American Legion, met Monday evening in the Legion hall to receive the report of the nominating committee, which submitted the following slate of officers for the coming year:

President, Mrs. Chalmers Day; vice president, Mrs. E. W. Hayward; secretary, Mrs. L. T. Rowley; treasurer, Mrs. W. B. Kelley; executive committee, Mesdames E. U. Emery, George E. Clayton, James F. McBryde, Vincent Salmacia and Katherine B. Rowe.

The election will take place Monday evening, January 30, when it is possible nominations may be made from the floor. Following the election there will be a social evening and refreshments will be served.

The prettier the girl the more attention she seems to think she requires.

Night School Courses Are Announced By Ferguson

Principal A. L. Ferguson of the Glendale high night school is sending out announcements of courses which can be entered now and responses are coming in rapidly. Twenty-one new enrollments were made last week, bringing the total enrollment to 451, and more are expected this week.

It is easy to see, as Mr. Ferguson explained, why students can be added to the classes at any time, because they are not required to have covered certain ground and in the matter of English, for example, can take up the work wherever the class happens to be without regard to what it has studied in previous weeks.

In the language classes it may be a little harder, but even the beginner, if a good student, by a little extra hard work, can catch up. The arithmetic classes are doing work that is practically a review to refresh the memories of the students, and so these can be entered at any time.

Commercial subjects—bookkeeping, typing, penmanship, mechanical drawing, auto shop work, millinery and many others are practically individual work in which the student can go as rapidly or slowly as he chooses.

A big enrollment is coming in for dressmaking classes, which are to start February 6.

Women's gymnasium work is being expanded into two classes, one of which will meet Tuesday and one Thursday nights. Pupils can attend one or both, as they elect.

No tuition is charged for enrollment in these courses, the only expense being for books and materials used. No entrance examination is required and no previous schooling. If any further information is desired it can be had by calling at Glendale High Monday, Tuesday or Thursday evenings from 7 to 9. Following is the outline of courses:

MORE OFFICERS SCHOOL AFFAIRS

County Superintendent Mark Keppel is now appointing a group of supervisors for outlying districts. He has, for example, appointed a general supervisor for Antelope Valley who will live there and go from school to school working with the teachers and helping to raise the standard so that students in the small schools will have as nearly as possible the same advantages as those in the schools nearer to Los Angeles. Mr. Keppel is also appointing supervisors in music and other special subjects who will travel through the county and visit the schools more often than the assistant superintendents can to advise teachers and pupils in regard to instruction in such subjects.

Monday, John Hunt, general supervisor of attendance, visited Glendale high. He has a plan for the districts to do what the Glendale district is already doing, and that is, appoint an attendance officer who will work in the several parts of the high school district. He was much pleased when he found that L. T. Rowley is doing just the work he wants to see established throughout the county.

A distinction is drawn between an attendance officer and a truancy officer, because it is believed by paying attention to attendance it will be possible to keep boys and girls in school and prevent them from becoming truants. He reported that in some parts of the county conditions are very bad and congratulated Glendale school officials on the situation here.

INVITATIONS OUT FOR EXERCISES

A-12 Students Preparing for Commencement on February 2nd

A-12 students of Glendale High are sending out invitations for their commencement exercises which will be held in the high school auditorium Thursday evening, February 2. There are 11 members in the class and it is expected that Dr. Bird, president of Occidental College, will deliver the address.

The new class that comes in from the grammar schools to take the place of these graduates will number about 75. Just how they are to be accommodated, and just the number of teachers it will be necessary to add to the staff to cover the additional work, has not been figured out by Mr. Moyle and the assisting principals. They do know that one teacher whose time will be given wholly to English, and one who will concentrate on foreign languages will be needed.

M'CLINTOCK IS HELD BY OFFICERS

Marshal Cole Arrested Man as He Started for Car to City

BURBANK, Jan. 17.—B. C. McClintock, who claimed he was a veterinarian and who has been stopping at the Marion hotel for about two weeks, was lodged in jail last Thursday by Marshal Cole, who arrested him at the Pacific Electric depot, thereby causing him to miss his car, in fact, several cars, for after being held in jail here he was turned over to the county authorities who wanted him on charges from various places, including Lankershim and Inglewood, at which latter place he is said to have bought several cows, paying for them with good words and a pleasing manner, according to the police.

M. J. Holm, proprietor of the hotel, saw McClintock going out with a suitcase one day and the next day starting with another, so he called Marshal Cole and they caught the man at the depot. It is said that he was wearing a suit which he had secured from Romeo, the tailor, and in the suitcase was a silk shirt and other fancy apparel secured from Broadway's store. It is claimed by the police that he worked numbers of the business men.

LEAGUERS WON FINE BANNER

Burbank Methodist Epworth League Came Out Victorious

BURBANK, Jan. 17.—The Epworth league of the Burbank Methodist church is now the proud possessor of a banner won Friday night at Chatsworth in a sub-district rally which included Lankershim, San Fernando and Owensmouth. The points considered in the awarding of the banner were the attendance in proportion to the membership, at the rally, and the distance involved in getting there. Burbank was there with 40 representatives. San Fernando ranked second. These rallies are held every quarter and the next one, in April, will be held in Burbank.

At the rally in Chatsworth, an interesting talk on the subject of "Clean Athletics" was made by Charles Paddock, world's champion sprinter. Dinner was enjoyed at the league rallies but each takes his own and the church acting as entertainer provides coffee. A program of music and speaking is given.

Ray Fischer is president of the Burbank Epworth league and much of its success is due to his enthusiasm and efforts.

CHURCH DINNER WEDNESDAY NIGHT

BURBANK, Jan. 17.—On Wednesday evening a congregational dinner will be served by the Presbyterians in their church. Each person or family will take lunch for themselves and the church will furnish coffee. Such refreshments are styled a pot-luck dinner, and are heartily enjoyed. On the occasion of this dinner, Rev. Weatherell, pastor of the Presbyterian church in Eagle Rock, and H. M. Patterson, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Los Angeles, will be present and the meeting will partake of the nature of a conference.

DYNAMOS CLUB PAPER IS ISSUED

The January number of the "Dynamos," a monthly publication of two thousand copies, gotten out by the Presbyterian Dynamos club, is now being distributed to Glendale homes under the supervision of David Lynd. The paper, which is of 8 pages, voices the sentiment of the Dynamos club and sets forth the policies of true manhood. It is inviting all the young men of the community to join in its work for God and man.

FEW REALIZE HOW FAST CITY-GROWS

Activity in All Kinds of Building Can Be Seen Here

Few people fully realize the amount of building that is going on in Glendale and vicinity. Building is not confined alone to residences, but business blocks in nearly every part of the city are under construction, many of which are located on streets not now regarded as business centers. On Brand boulevard alone there are more than a dozen brick and tile stores being built, besides numerous small structures for storage rooms.

On East Broadway adjoining the Hooper Service station at Louise, four brick store rooms are being built by H. E. Betz, local brick contractor, for Arthur and Edward Turner of Glendale, who will rent the same as soon as built. It is stated Wm. Hooper, the popular service station man, will occupy one of the store rooms with a big stock of tires and automobile accessories. The Rollin' Pin Bakery, perhaps, and other local firms may take the other three stores. Mr. Betz with a large force of men is rushing the work, and hopes to have the building ready for occupancy in about sixty days. This will be a big addition to the East side.

BIG WAREHOUSE

H. E. Betz, and Messrs. Daniels and Borthick, have under construction a mammoth warehouse 70 feet wide by 70 feet long in the rear of the stores between Maryland and Louise, south of Broadway. It is a brick structure and will be rushed to completion by Mr. Betz, the local brick contractor. When done it will accommodate Fisher's Variety store and a half dozen other merchants on Broadway and Maryland, who are sadly in need of more room for their rapidly growing businesses. Mr. Fisher, especially, needs more room as his business has grown so rapidly that he has been forced to unpack his goods in the alley lately and store the surplus wherever he could get room outside of his store. Mr. Betz will also use a good sized room in the new warehouse for his business. In speaking of the demand for more space Mr. Betz said: "Few people realize how rapidly Glendale is growing, and how many local merchants are being crowded for room. Only a short time ago Maryland between Broadway and Harvard was a vacant street, but within the last few months we have built several brick buildings and the east side of the street is almost a solid brick front from Broadway to Harvard. I have been in the contracting business in Glendale for 15 years, but have never seen such activity in building as during the past year. No one can tell when it will let up. I have several jobs under way, and am very busy just now. Glendale is sure coming to the front," concluded Mr. Betz.

ANOTHER BRICK

The H. H. Beran company has just completed a large brick building on South Brand adjoining the Robinson Transfer office, which will be used by Hunter & McGrath, for their garage and machine shop business, which has grown so rapidly as to demand more room. Mr. Beran has considerable other work under way.

DEPARTMENT STORE.

The Roy L. Kent company is making rapid progress on the foundation work for the three story brick building being constructed on Harvard and Brand for the new Glendale department store. The recent heavy rains retarded work considerably, but the appearance of good weather has caused Mr. Kent to redouble his efforts on the job, and a large force of men are now on the job, which will be rushed as rapidly as possible.

BUILDING ON BRAND.

Many new business houses have been built within the last few months on North Brand, and several brick stores are planned for the near future, besides those now under construction. At the corner of Lexington and Brand a large brick structure is under way, while between Lexington and California, two other stores are to be built, one for a new hardware establishment, it is said.

JENSEN BUILDING.

The Rommel Construction company is making splendid progress on the foundation for the big building to be built by the Jensens on their lot adjoining the T. D. & L. theater. The excavating work for the basement has been completed and the foundation is being put in. It will require several weeks to complete this big building, which from an architectural standpoint will be one of the prettiest in Glendale.

WILL START CLASS IN PSYCHOLOGY

At the piano recital which was given last week by Francis Grier, a mystic, seer, and an inspirational musician, at the home of Mrs. Cora J. Stewart, 807 South Brand, announcement was made that he will start classes in Glendale in psychology and kindred subjects in the near future, and at each lesson he will play three inspirational piano numbers. About 25 were present from Glendale, Pasadena and Los Angeles, and the program given was of unusual interest and charm. The artist explained that his music cannot be referred to any written composition but is the inspiration of the moment and cannot be predicted in advance. Neither can it be imitated or repeated, even by himself. He stated that the vibrations represented by the compositions are continuous and universal, to be caught by any soul sufficiently sensitive and attuned to receive them. The descriptive music played on this occasion was named as each number was played, and included the following: "Moonlight and Reveries," "Voices of the Desert," "Temple."

HOME BUILDING HAS NO LET-UP

W. B. Sherwood Contractor Sees Much Business Ahead

That there is nothing in the way of a let-up in the home building operations in Glendale, is the assertion of W. B. Sherwood, contractor and builder of 313 South Glendale avenue, this morning. "The many people who have been purchasing lots in Glendale during the past few weeks have done so with the intention of erecting homes on their holdings as soon as arrangements can be made to do so," said Mr. Sherwood. "And the homes that are going up are of the better class. In fact, there are few homes having less than five rooms being built. We anticipate an excellent winter building season in Glendale."

Mr. Sherwood has now the following homes under construction: In Glendale—Mrs. L. M. Goodrich, an eight-room home at 1896 South Gardena avenue; Mrs. E. Tracy, five-room home at 1913 South Brand; Miss Adele Dougherty, five-room home at 346 East Maple; Mrs. Emma Potter, five-room home at 324 West Maple; O. M. Totman, five-room home at 537 West Lexington; Miss Alberta Green, five-room home at 606 North Howard; Ellis Thomas, five-room home at 212 East Palmer. Hollywood—C. C. Cummitt of Los Angeles, four-room home at 1814 North Normandy; A. Bullert, five-room home at 1435 McCullum. Flintridge—A beautiful eight-room Spanish style home for Mrs. M. E. Anderson.

Eagle Rock—A home of five rooms for Mrs. H. Christenson at 131 North Saturn avenue; a home of eight rooms for Mrs. Henrietta Barnes, at 124 North Central avenue; a five-room dwelling for R. Hanson at 137 North Delaware street.

Verdugo—A beautiful Spanish style home for Roy Abe. Mr. Sherwood says that daily the building prospects are getting better. The reorganization of his office and working forces has just been effected so that he is now able to do better work in shorter time.

WALLACE REID'S NEWEST FEATURE

Wallace Reid's latest feature picture, "Rent Free," opens at the T. D. & L. theater today, and from the success of the picture elsewhere generally, it will no doubt be received here by crowded houses. Ralph Allen, in arranging his bookings of attractions for the T. D. & L. theater, stated that he looked forward to "Rent Free" as one of the best of pictures and fully expects Glendale to turn out in full force to see it. It offers a comedy of the highest type and is guaranteed to entertain and please everyone.

The rooftops of New York! When you see them in "Rent Free" you'll swear they are the real thing. But they are not. The company might have been taken to New York; they could have built a tremendous platform to stage the scenes—a hundred or more—but they did neither. Director Howard Higgin and the art directors and others evolved the plan of locating the set on the roofs of the big studio buildings in Hollywood. They built up some plaster brick walls, used the regular skylights, chimney pots, etc., hoisted up sun arcs and other lights, erected diffusers and took the company to the roofs. The effect was perfect and nobody knows how many thousands of dollars were saved by this judicious move.

Added to "Rent Free" is the special comedy, "Assorted Heroes," Film Snapshots and Kinograms, the world's events in pictures. The entire program is of the high standard set by the T. D. & L. management. Don't miss it. It will carry away all the 'blues' and 'heavy loads,' for one can only laugh and forget that there is anything else in the world but comedy, clean fun and pleasure.

TOO BUSY TO EAT SAYS L. C. DAVIS

"I have been too busy to eat," said L. C. Davis, the East Broadway window shade manufacturer. "From the large number of shades I have been turning out I should judge that several hundred houses have been completed during the last few days in Glendale. It seems that I have made enough shades, anyway, to supply the demands of several hundred houses."

Mr. Davis has the reputation of turning out good work and is getting all he can do. The Credit Men's Association met for luncheon Monday noon in the chamber of commerce rooms with 36 members present. No speaker had been provided and the talk was limited to informal discussion among members of matters of interest. Reports of the vast for new members were made and seven names of men recently enrolled were submitted. The committee on emblems was called upon and offered one design which was considered but action was deferred until the next meeting in the expectation that other designs will be presented.

"Symphonic Poem," "Melodies" the following: "Moonlight and Reveries," "Voices of the Desert," "Temple."

BUILD A HOME AND PAY FOR IT IN PAYMENTS LESS THAN RENT

Thousands of homeless families are paying rent today, living in unsatisfactory places, paying more than they can afford for less than they want—BE-CAUSE they did not buy a lot and build a home.

There is no better New Year's gift for a man to give his family than a HOME IN GLENDALE.

There is no better New Year Resolution than the resolution that you will cast your fortunes definitely with Glendale through BUYING and OWNING a piece of land within the city, which will get its share of the community's great advancement.

Success in life depends upon two things—opportunity and what is within you. There is no place on earth where OPPORTUNITY is spelled in such large letters as in Glendale.

If you have the internal elements of success, it is more nearly within your grasp here than anywhere else on the footstool.

Therefore, the thing to do is to OWN YOUR HOME.

If you have a clear lot, you can finance the building of a home upon it. If you haven't a clear lot, the way to get one is to make the largest payment you can make, and start owning it. Then finish the payments as fast as you can.

REMEMBER, Glendale is growing at the rate of about 500 people a month. Is there a lot you think you would like to have as the site of YOUR home or YOUR business?

Revenue Collector Explains in Detail Way to File

The great number of inquiries now being received at the office of John P. Carter, collector of internal revenue, make it obligatory that the policy of the internal revenue bureau be made known to the public.

Forms 1040-A, revised and simplified, for filing individual returns of income for the calendar year 1921 of $5000 and less will be available Wednesday, January 18, at the office of collector of internal revenue, Federal building, Los Angeles, and the following branch offices:

Second floor Postoffice building,
Santa Barbara.
Court house, San Bernardino.
No. 250 Federal building, San Diego.

A copy will be mailed to taxpayers who last year filed a return, but failure to receive the form does not relieve a taxpayer of his obligation to file a return on time —on or before March 15, 1922.
The form has been reduced from six to four pages, two of which are devoted to instructions which should be carefully read by the taxpayer before filling in the blanks. A study of these instructions will greatly lessen the difficulties heretofore encountered in correctly making out the returns.

On page 1, under the head of "Income," are spaces for reporting the following items: Salaries, wages, commissions, etc.; income from partnerships, fiduciaries, etc.;
rents and royalties; profit (or loss)
from business or profession; profit (or loss) from sale of real estate; profit (or loss) from sale of stocks, bonds, etc., and other income. Beneath are spaces for entering deductions, such as interest and taxes paid during the year; losses by fire, storm, shipwreck, or other casualty or by theft, contributions, bad debts, etc.

On page 2 are spaces for entering explanations of the various items, i. e., the total amount of income from business or profession, with description, "grocery," "retail clothing," "drug store," "landry," "doctor," "lawyer," "farmer," from rents and royalties, sale of property, etc.

Returns are required of every single person and every married person not living with husband or wife, whose net income for 1921 was $1000 or more, and of every married person living with husband or wife whose net income was $2000 or more. If the combined income of husband, wife and dependent minor children equalled or exceeded $2000, or if the combined gross income of husband, wife and dependent minor children equalled or exceeded $5000, all such income must be reported on a joint return or in separate returns of husband and wife. If single and the net income including that of dependent minors, if any, equalled or exceeded $1000, or if the gross income equalled or exceeded $5000, a return must be filed. A minor, however, having a net income of $1000 or $2000, according to marital status, or a gross income of $5000, must file a return. The requirement to file a return of gross income, regardless of the amount of net income, upon which the tax is assessed,
is a new provision.

"Net income" is gross income less certain deductions which are explained on the form.

Under each of the above conditions, a return must be filed even though no tax is due. The exemptions are $1000 for single persons and married persons not living with husband or wife, $2500 for married persons living with husband or wife whose net income for 1921 was $5000 or less, and $2000 for such persons whose net income was more than $5000. The exemptions for dependents, "a person under 18 years of age or mentally or physically defective," has been increased from $200 to $400.

A head of a family—a person who actually supports in one household one or more persons closely related to him (or her) by blood, marriage or adoption, is granted the same exemptions allowed a married person.

The normal tax rates are unchanged, 4 per cent on the first $4000 of net income above the exemptions and 8 per cent on the remaining net income. The tax this year, as last, may be paid in full at the time of filing the return or in four equal installments, due on or before March 15, June 15, September 15 and December 15.
Heavy penalties are provided by the new revenue act for failure to file a return and pay the tax on time. Announcement will be made through the press of the date of release of forms 1040 for filing individual return of income of more than $5000.

DEMAND FOR LOTS MUCH INCREASED

"The demand for lots during the last week has been the heaviest
I have seen for many months," said O. F. Kroehle, formerly of Kroehle & Echols, but who recently opened an office for himself at 205 East Broadway. "A great many people have been looking around for good lots, and I have had the pleasure of locating many new people in Glendale lately."

Mr. Kroehle is a great booster for Glendale, and never loses an opportunity to boost the city. He is also doing a good realty business.

The slump in the demand for diamonds has caused practically all the mines in Africa to shut down and all the natives are idle and on the verge of starvation.

Fine Program—An elaborate program has been gotten out by the Shrine club of Glendale for the informal dance which it is giving the evening of January 19.

Truths in Epigram

A friend may well be reckoned the masterpiece of nature. — Emerson 1803-1882.

That is the best government which desires to make the people happy, and knows how to make them happy. — Lord Macaulay (1800-1859).

Goodness does not consist in greatness, but greatness in goodness. — Athenaeus (200 A. D.).

GOOD FOR SPOKANE!

The United States census bureau gave to Spokane, Wash., a rating as the most intelligent city in the nation. Naturally this aroused the pride of the residents, but they did not get so proud as to think themselves perfect. The census that praised them, revealed to them their weak spot. They had fewer illiterates than any other place of the size, but they did have illiterates, 867, to be exact. Now with text book in hand, and moral suasion doing its utmost, they have attacked this illiteracy with intent to efface it.

Inability of an adult to read, provided there is a mind sufficiently developed to conquer the alphabet, is an offense that should not be tolerated. It ought, under certain conditions, to be regarded as a crime. There is no adequate excuse to be advanced for it. The individual can't advance such excuse, nor is the community able to wriggle out of responsibility.

Spokane, having been pronounced highly intelligent, hastens to prove the honor deserved. It is determined to be even more intelligent than it is, for it will draw recruits from the ranks of the ignorant of today, by banishing the ignorance tomorrow.

It does not seem an impossible task to eliminate illiteracy from any specified community that determines upon such a course. Spokane not only is doing a fine work for itself, but setting a pattern that deserves to be followed.

POETRY EVERY DAY

It is the custom of this paper to print daily on the editorial page a selected poem. The feature has proved popular. Subscribers have written in to express their approval, and to make suggestions as to poems they would be glad to see.

Few would be likely to think of Charles Darwin as a devotee of verse. Yet in his seventieth year, with his great work done, and his fame secure, Darwin wrote this:

"If I had my life to live again I would have made a rule to read some poetry and listen to some music at least once every week; for perhaps the parts of my brain now atrophied would thus have been kept alive through use. The loss of these tastes is a loss of happiness and may possibly be injurious to the intellect and more probably to the moral character, by enfeebling the emotional part of our nature."

Not all poetry is good, but the poetry that does not have it in it somewhere a fine thought, or the lifting lift of beauty, does not long survive. It presents no temptation to the editor as he looks about for something worth while.

Some of the most noble thought that has found expression has been presented through the vehicle of poetry. It had blossomed in the mind of the poet, and the fruitage of it had been given to the world.

The reader of poetry of course leaves out of all consideration such products as the output of Ezra Pound and his lunatic school. That is not poetry. It bears no relationship to literature.

THE ECONOMIC CONFERENCE

The call for an economic conference at Genoa is followed by a temporary uncertainty of the course of the United States in relation to it.

Certainly it would be impossible for the powers of Europe to devise measures for direction of industry and commerce, that would not have specific influence upon conditions in this country. Thus the United States would seem to be entitled to participation. Moreover, as Europe sent representatives to the disarmament conference, at the invitation of President Harding, acceptance of an invitation to Genoa might be a return courtesy.

There has been some intimation that Lenine and Trotsky were to be present. It is difficult to see how the statesmen of any country could meet them even on the plane of a transient equality. Russia, in the acceptable sense of the word, is not at present a government. There is scant reason to assume that the existing oligarchy is to be permanent. It seems to be dying. The great Russia from which it must draw its sustenance, is ravaged by famine and fever; prolonging wretched lives on the bread of charity.

Ultimately doubtless there will be a Russian government, headed by men of intellect and character. With such a Russia, the world would be glad to confer, and to enter upon relations. But that Lenine and Trotsky are entitled to seats at the council board now, or that ever they shall be welcomed there, appears more than doubtful.

ASSAILING A LAW

Attention has been called to the fact that an attack on the minimum wage law has been staged at San Francisco. In other words, the expected happened.

According to the law, women may not be paid less than $16 a week for certain classes of labor. One institution employing a large number, informed them that it could not afford to pay this merely living wage, and dismissed them. The effect has been that some of them have sought to go back to their jobs "at any price."

Doubtless a condition that would cause women to clamor for work "at any price" is exactly that which some organizations would regard as ideal. The public does not coincide. In the price of manufactured products it buys it discerns no reason why the wage-earners should be denied real pay.

PENNSYLVANIA PRESTIGE

According to a view frequently expressed, Pennsylvania has suffered a great loss in prestige through the deaths of Senators Knox and Penrose. Both had been long in public service. Knox was a lawyer of the first class, Penrose a politician of great attainment. There is another way to look at the matter, however. Prestige, as a term, may be variously interpreted.

Only a few days ago a Philadelphia paper said "Oh for a senator to represent all the interests of the state."

Here was the clear intimation that during the lives of the distinguished gentlemen, there had not been complete belief that they were devoted to the public welfare, to the exclusion of special interests.

One writer reminds the new senators, Crowe and Pepper, that they have a high mark at which to shoot. They are supposed to be inspired also by having "Cameron and Quay in mind."

The pair would do far better by using their own judgment and going their own gait. They may learn much as to method by studying the courses of their immediate predecessors, but the advice to look to Quay as a model is distinctly bad advice. Outside a band who inherited some of his peculiar traits of leadership, Quay is not remembered with pride, and the finest charity of Pennsylvania is to keep silence concerning his career.

WAUKESHA COMES INTO NOTICE

Waukesha emerges from obscurity. Waukesha is a town in Wisconsin. That state is welcome to cherish it. No other state would be likely to do so. Perhaps Wisconsin feels no pride in possession.

The American Legion had arranged to have Judge Landis deliver a lecture in Waukesha. He was billed to speak on "Americanism." The plan was to have the school house used as a hall for the occasion. The school board flatly refused.

It is possible that the members of the board do not know what Americanism is. Perhaps they do know, and are afraid that Landis might start a wave of it, submerge the community, and change the local character to an extent that they might be thrown out of authority as unfit.

A school board has a right to promote such activities as it may deem educational. A lecture by Judge Landis on Americanism, doubtless would be educational. Therefore the Waukesha board cannot assert that it is obligated to take the course it has chosen. It must be inspired by an emotion exactly contrary to that most Americans feel sometimes, and ascribe to patriotism.

The officials that insult at once such an organization as the American Legion; such a publicist as Landis, and the intelligence that may lurk in their own environment, is romping to a fall. Of course, they cannot fall far, their present elevation being inconsiderable. And with all their faults, they have caused the name of Waukesha to be mentioned outside the county.

Anonymous threats to members of a jury should have no effect whatever. Nevertheless an insolent message from a cowardly rogue, might create a prejudice against the side he advocated.

Resumption of trade with Russia is conceded to be essential to restoration of normal conditions in Europe. It certainly is essential to Russia most of all.

FOOL'S GOLD

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Most of the world is running about looking for fool's gold.

We are diseased with the notion that only conspicuous people are interesting.

Quite the contrary is true. The only people that it is possible to live with are the inconspicuous.

We are victims of advertisement, and labor under the delusion that the value of things and people depends upon the degree to which they are talked about.

Some men are even so foolish as to marry a famous woman.

And there are many young female idiots who have dreamed of happiness by marrying a celebrated man.

We are tickled to death when we are invited to tea by the Duchess Vere de Vere, where we meet noted persons who snub us and their worshippers who bore us.

We eat what we detest because it is the thing; we wear what becomes us not, because the half world in Paris wears it; we crimp our naturally straight and attractive hair until it looks like that of a Fiji Islander because it is the style; we pay ten dollars a plate at a banquet where we can eat cold and indigestible food and have a distant view of General Foch or John Drinkwater.

We think we have abandoned the English custom of toasting to Dukes and Lords, but in Worcester, Massachusetts, and Kokomo, Indiana, we are just as crazy to touch the hem of the garments of celebrated persons.

We break our necks to get invited to dinner at the banker's.

Pa comes home all swollen up over the fact that he has been appointed a member of the governor's staff, and his beatitude is immense when he blossoms out in his gorgeous livery.

I know a man whose greatest point of pride and the chiefest comfort of whose soul was that he possessed a hickory cane that Roosevelt had used once.

The Smiths were the aristocracy of my native town, and I remember very well when my Uncle Isaac became famous in our family and was lifted entirely above the level of the rest of us because he broke his arm wrestling with one of the Smith boys.

There still remain people who collect autographs. The last truth we learn, and a truth that most of us never learn, is that the most interesting people in the world are those we happen to meet.

A man came into the assayer's office once in Denver and submitted a specimen of ore. He was told that it was pyrites of iron. He had thought it was gold. "What's it worth?" he said. "Nothing," was the reply; "it is called fool's gold."

The man looked so crestfallen that the assayer said, "You need not feel so bad about it, you are no worse off than before you found it, are you?" "Ain't I?" said the man. "Why, Lord, man, I married a widdler with a whole hill full of that stuff!"

THE LISTENING POST

A long time ago an ancestor of yours and mine played the baby act.

You know what the baby act is. Boo-hooing and blubbering and crying and bawling to get something or to escape something.

To play the baby act is no discredit to babies of course.

Because babies are supposed to play the baby act.

That is why they do. Because they are babies.

And we can't expect babies to have the poise and reason and courage of grownups.

But when grownups play the baby act, we can't help feeling disgust.

Because grownups ought to know better. And to do better.

And the ancestor of ours who played the baby act set a bad example.

Which has been followed in many instances.

The ancestor in question was Adam. Who was grandfather of all of us.

Grandfather to the nth degree or something like that.

But no great credit to us. For he boo-hooed and blubbered when the first test came.

And tried to escape the consequences of his misdeeds.

By blaming a woman. Whom doubtless he had promised to love, cherish and protect.

And when he was charged with eating an apple from the tree of knowledge that had been forbidden him he played the baby act.

Sought to place the blame on some one else. A weak and frail woman who was no match for a serpent.

And he said: "The woman tempted me and I did eat."

The old coward!

If he had been praised for eating the apple the chances are he would have claimed all the credit for himself.

Declared it was his own and original idea.

Given none of the credit to the woman.

And would have gone about with an arrogant assumption of wisdom and courage.

But as it was, he dodged. Blubbered and boo-hooed.

Was frightened when the consequences of his misdeeds were brought home to him.

And made us descendants ashamed of him forever and ever.

No wonder many of us are lacking in courage with the example of Adam always before us.

He might have stood up like a man and taken the blame on himself.

Protected the woman who was no match for the serpent.

And if he had done that he might still have been in the garden of Eden.

Or we might be.

Doubtless he was driven from the garden because of this very cowardice of his, and not for eating the apple at all.

And when he was driven out he took us all with him.

Lost us our birthright. Forfeited his title to the finest bit of real property in the world.

Adam was the first man to play the baby act. And a lot of men have been playing it ever since.

Blaming circumstances and conditions and everything but themselves.

And how contemptible is the man who plays the baby act.

Blubbers and hoo-hoos when brought face to face with consequences.

How much more admirable would be the man who faced consequences courageously.

Admitted his weakness and guilt. Claimed no exemptions.

Pleaded no extenuating circumstances.

And did not mistake a keen sense of fear for conscience.

Whatever the misdeed, we might almost be tempted to tell him to go and sin no more.

Because he had as much courage in adversity and mischance as he had in crime.

JAMES W. FOLEY.

SONGS OF THE POETS

Spring—By Thomas Nashe (1567-1601)

Spring, the sweet Spring, is the year's pleasant king; Then blooms each thing, then maids dance in a ring.

Cold doth not sting, the pretty birds do sing— Cuckoo, jug-jug, pu-we, to-witta-wool!

The palm and may make country houses gay. Lambs frisk and play, the shepherds pipe all day.

And we hear aye birds tune this merry lay— Cuckoo, jug-jug, pu-we, to-witta-wool!

The fields breathe sweet, the daisies kiss our feet, Young lovers meet, old wives a-sunning sit,

In every street these tunes our ears do greet— Cuckoo, jug-jug, pu-we, to-witta-wool!

Spring, the sweet Spring!

OBSERVED AT A GLANCE

Hearst approves abolition of poison gas, evidently not construing the move as an attempt to gag the yellow press.

Ford plans to do so much that he can't do it all. Perhaps the part of his program designed to create a new currency system might as well be lopped off.

Rockefeller, the elder, has just written a check for $391,698.88, covering the trifle of back taxes that had been overlooked.

One or two cabinet positions may be abolished, but the gentlemen now occupying them do not seem dismayed. They hardly can afford to stay, anyhow.

Lenine is not likely to attend the conference at Genoa. Were he thus to turn his back to his beloved followers, they might stick something into it.

Former Emperor Charles says he hopes to rule again. Either he's a frenzied optimist or an awful liar.

Japan is beginning to admit that the Chinese, being the owners of Shantung, have some rights in that territory.

Thinking he was drinking water, a prohibitionist Chicago alderman took a swig of white mule moonshine. Doubtless this confirmed him in his dry principles.

New York has been having another of the awful storms that create wonder why so many people consent to live there.

Many of the soldiers just back from the Rhine brought German wives along. Perhaps the war is not quite over, after all.

The wife of a mule skinner asks for divorce. A mule may survive a barrage of loose talk that would be too much for any woman.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

KITCHEN WORK GOOD FOR A MAN

[Washington Post]

Because some philosopher in an address before Boston matrons recently expounded this advice, "Never let your husband learn to cook; it makes him independent of you." John T. Carahan of New York wants to counteract what he calls the evil influence of that dictum.

"As a mere man, a husband and a father," said

JUST BETWEEN OURSELVES

By DELLA STEWART

There are so many things for which there is no use. Jealousy. Revenge. Street pianos. Women who chew gum. Men who think themselves lady-killers. Self-conceit—the overweening variety. Poses. Shams. Naggers. Pessimists. But why prolong the list?

We can think about them until the succession of useless things—and folks—follow us about wherever we go. We can fill our thought life with dislikes and our hearts with discontent and grudges. Some of us do. No one has ever been able to say just why. Certainly not in order to attract happiness. She is never wooed that way. Nor to make ourselves attractive, or much loved. The opposite is the result.

How hopelessly monotonous life would be were it all exactly to everyone's liking. To be so, we must all like exactly the same things. Horrible thought, isn't it? Who wants to be one of a million of creatures made after exactly the same pattern? Why, we get peeved if one of our acquaintances duplicates one of our frocks—or a piece of furniture and kind of knowledge, how much would be lost—for no one head could carry more than a small fraction of that in the world.

Maybe it's pretty well planned, after all. Maybe the things that we abhor may be liked by some others. Maybe, too, we were too quick in pronouncing them of no use. Maybe even we ourselves need the knowledge of them to hold us in the wiser ways.

It isn't safe for mere mortal to try to change the world. Frankly, we don't know enough!

Mr. Carnahan, "I am here to state that the husband doesn't live who will secure his independence merely by learning the art of cooking. In fact, I would go so far as to say that once a man is permitted to learn cooking he immediately becomes more independent than ever upon the resources of his wife. All a woman has to do in order to prove the truth of this is permit her husband to have his own day in the kitchen. She will find soon afterward that he is hers for life; that he has found out his weakness; that he admits defeat."

"When our boys were in the army—and I am proud to state that one of my boys was a member of the American forces—they all had a taste of what was then called 'K. P.' or kitchen police. They probably didn't have to do any cooking, but they did have to wash and dry the dishes. And they came home with a profound respect for their mothers and sisters, who for years had been doing this sort of work without any medals being pinned on their bosoms. Every man who salutes forth from the kitchen, who volunteers or is ordered to wash and dry the dishes, knows whereof I speak. He immediately begins to hold a higher regard for womanfolk in general, and for his wife in particular. If she is head of the culinary department,"

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

The influences at work on behalf of Sacco and Vanzetti seem to be tireless. It happens that most of them are ultra radical. The defense comes from communists, bolsheviks and people of such class. The result is the instant creation of a prejudice that is unfortunate for the prisoners.

There are many radicals who aim at revolution. They do not hesitate to proclaim their hatred for government, particularly for courts, and for all formalities that hinder them from taking what they want by whatever method they can devise. That these people would be likely to make an appeal based on fact and law, does not seem probable. Many of them are advocates of torch and bomb.

Demonstrations have been appallingly frequent of the habitual difficulty of convicting a guilty man of murder. The statutes protect him. The ruling of the judge is a shield about him. Technicality wholly without merit, and known so to be, may be invoked on his behalf effectively. Therefore the difficulty of believing that these men have been condemned although innocent of crime.

The defense committee working to save them declare the men are guiltless. If able to make any reasonable showing in support of the contention, it is not possible to believe a new trial will be denied.

Not fond of reds as individuals, and abominating their doctrines, the people of this country are far from desiring any injustice to be visited upon any of the class.

The only question to be considered is as to whether Sacco and Vanzetti committed the murder of which they have been accused and convicted.

Courts readily, often too readily, grant new trials. If there should develop the slightest reason for doing so now, this instance is not likely to be an exception.

Alexander Howatt, leader of the Kansas coal miners, has ordered the men back to work. He says they have been idle long enough to prove that the industrial court is a failure.

However, Howatt will have to concede that the tribunal is not wholly without effective authority. It sent him to jail for six months, and he is there yet.

The Evening Post of New York has just changed ownership. As the one New York daily that has maintained a standard fairly to be called literary, the fact interests many readers.

Very often the editorial policy of the Post has been unpopular, but never has it been poorly expressed.

Trout to the number of 23,926,000 were planted in California streams in 1921.

The angler who wades miles of creeks with rod and line, and gets nothing but wet feet, may be inclined to doubt these figures, but they are official. The state supplies the trout, but the fisherman must bring his luck along.

A saloon keeper of Hoboken, N. J., is in jail on charge of manslaughter because wool alcohol, sold over his bar, killed the man who drank it. Except that the charge is too mild, the procedure seems fair enough.

By the way, there does not appear to be any provision in the constitutional amendment, for keeping a saloon, even to sell a better grade of alcohol than may be produced from wood.

It is a singular fact that the late Senator Penrose should have left a fortune in cash, but locked up in a safety deposit box. Money thus held in seclusion represents a loss to the owner, and a much more serious matter, is kept out of the channels of circulation.

Many times people have been urged not to keep their money idle.

Just now there happens to be in circulation the report that a diet of carrots will grow hair. Many a baldhead is chewing this vegetable now, in vain hope of a crop of carrotty locks.

Experience and observation have proved that when hair falls out, it has gone to stay. As the sequel to certain illnesses, the tresses may depart, and in due season be replaced by a new crop. When through gradual process the scalp has become polished and sterile, there is just the same chance of causing it to grow hair as there would be for making grass spring from a waxed dancing floor.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

My friend the General sent his orderly out to his home the other day to get his bed roll. The General was about to start on a long camping tour and needed it. Orderly Nolan presented himself to Madame General. He saluted in true military form and told his errand. Madame General told him where to get the roll and Nolan got it. Then Madame General spoke.

"That bed roll," she said, "looks lumpy. Open it up. I expect the General has tied a lot of things in it and forgotten them."

"No, Mum," said Nolan. "The General told me to get his bed roll. He didn't say anything about having any one open it and look into it."

Madame General has a fine, high temper and fire in her eye. Orderly Nolan is respectful and kind but unyielding in matters of duty. When he reached the General's office with that bed roll its contents were intact. The General had to go through it and weed out some old boots and a gun or two and a vase some one had given him and which he had forgotten and a lot of other heavy bijouterie.

"That's why Nolan is so valuable to me," he said, his eyes shining. "What I tell him to do he does. He does no more than I tell him and never any less. If I had told him to handcuff Madame General and bring her to me on a pushcart he would have performed his duty with the same solemn courtesy with which he rebuffed her desire to peer into that bed roll."

Lots of us, it seems to me sometimes, might take the lesson of Nolan to heart. Most of the trouble I have ever got into with my bosses was to the fact that I improved on their orders. After all, the reason why they bossed me was that they knew more than I did—or at least that the fact that I knew best had not yet penetrated responsible quarters—and most of the time they issued orders on the basis of a deeper and more intelligent comprehension of the situation that I could possibly have. My friend the General says of course Nolan's refusal to permit the mysteries of that bed roll to be illuminated seems silly.

"But that sort of a man is the salt of the earth," he says. "It is that sort of a man who never knows when he is beaten. That sort of a man dug the Panama canal and built the Pyramids and took Argonne Forest. If it were not for the literal-minded men the rest of us would make a frightful hash of the world."

DO YOU KNOW THAT?

Remarkable feats have been accomplished in Germany lately with motorless aeroplanes. One machine soared more than six miles, while the pilot made sharp turns, figure-eights, etc.,

Foley's Friendly Fancies

THE HEALER

I know a magic wand whose touch Has wondrous healing powers, And when they sorrow overmuch, These broken hearts of ours, The magic of that wand will dry The tears that flow the while, Will still the heart-ache and the sigh And lead sad souls to smile.

And flowers that faded yesterday Are freshened into bloom, The bleak December turns to May, The chill and cruel tomb Becomes a bridal altar fair, And she who is the bride, Wept yesterday, a widow, there, Since joy, her mate, had died.

Ah, yes, I know a magic wand That touches maids and men, And dead loves touched with it grow fond Of life and love again. And they forget who sorrowed so Where dead loves lay beneath, For on green graves the lilies grow To make a bridal wreath.

How over this old world of ours With all its grief and tears, That magic wand has proved its powers Of healing through the years. And how, when Grief has walked apart With weeping maids and men Time's wand has healed the broken heart And made it whole again.

BUSINESS MEN TO HAVE GYM CLASS

Meeting Will Be Held Thursday Night to Organize

"The Glendale evening high school is seriously considering a course in gymnasium and athletic work for local business men if the enrollment is sufficient to justify such a course. Several business men have already signified their desire for such a course and are anxious to enroll. All business and professional men who are interested in a course in gymnastics, calisthenics, and athletic games are urged to take up this work. It has also been suggested that teams for competitive games such as volleyball and indoor baseball could be organized. These teams could be made up from individual members of the class or as representatives of organizations and business houses," said Principal A. L. Ferguson of the night school.

"The employees of the Standard Oil company of Glendale have already enrolled in the evening high school gymnasium work and have organized a basketball team which is playing games with similar teams representing San Fernando, Pomona, and Redondo. The enrollment should be enough so that a local league could be started in several lines of sport. The high school has an excellent floor, fine equipment, and hot water for showers. "A meeting of those interested will be held on Thursday evening, January 19, at the Union high school auditorium at 7:30 p. m. If interested and cannot be present that evening send a card stating the same to A. L. Ferguson, care of Glendale Union high school or phone Glendale 120; stating you would like to join such a class. The class would meet on Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7 to 9 in the high school gymnasium."

GRINS AND GROANS

See by the papers another band of bandits successfully got away with a $12,000 cash payroll. Sawed-off shotguns are all right for these birds but paying payroll by check is easier and doesn't spatter human blood all over the plantation either.

Senator Newberry may occupy his seat in the United States senate until his term expires. We imagine he will be just about as comfortable as the school boy who has to "stay in" after school.

Makes the taxpayer sort of bewildered, this $100,000 Burch trial. If Arthur knows where he was on the night of the murder, why does he keep it a secret? If he wasn't where Kennedy was killed when he was killed, he should tell it, and if he was, perhaps he took the best course in putting on the soft pedal. If Burch is innocent, he should at least be tried for obstructing justice.

Sometimes we wish the European plan of "resigning" could be applied in congress. When a French premier finds he is not popular with the chamber of deputies, he leads his cabinet in a parade out of office.

Women on criminal juries are not popular with the learned lawyers who make reputations for themselves in either enforcing or cheating justice. Anyhow, the average man who is innocent of crime is probably willing to repose his fate in the hands of the average woman juror. Anyhow, women jurors are not alone in the matter of designating themselves as a pardoning board.

"For Those We Love" Is Young Star's Latest Production

As careers are reckoned, Betty Compson's has been truly meteoric. Those who see her in her latest picture, "For Those We Love," produced by the studio herself, at the Glendale theater, where it will play for three days, beginning today, will recognize a talent that rose above adversity and found its own level. Not many years ago, Miss Compson was playing the violin in an act on the vaudeville stage. Her success was the result of an unusual natural talent for music combined with a personality that reached beyond the footlights.

It was during this period of her artistic career that Al Christie saw her. He immediately offered her what seemed a tremendous sum to become the leading lady in his famous screen comedies. To make this part of her story short, she made good immediately. Then, when the late George Loane Tucker engaged Miss Compson for "The Miracle Man," she made such a profound impression on critics and public alike that she decided to form her own producing organization.

Her first picture under her own banner was "Prisoners of Love," which was released by Goldwyn. "For Those We Love," her new starring production, finds her among the leading stars in the film world.

Her latest picture was directed by Arthur Rosson, and is the photoplay version of a story by Perley Poore Sheehan. It is being distributed by Goldwyn.

At Mrs. Hartzell's—The Thursday afternoon club meets this Thursday afternoon at Mrs. Hartzell's, corner Laurel street and Brand boulevard, at 2:30. The speaker for the afternoon will be E. Burdette Backus, a lecturer of note, and his subject will be "Practical Psychology."

With Smith Co.—Elsion Williams of Pasadena has joined the mechanical force of the George T. Smith company, 228 South Brand boulevard. He is a graduate of Sweeney's Automobile school at Kansas City and took first honors in a driving contest in which there were 1100 participants. The honor was for quickness in shifting and good driving.

Give a man half a chance and he will tell of a grudge he has against some other man.
